Bronx Doctor Brings Woman Back To Life After Asthma Attack

President

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—A "return from death" was recorded Wednesday by Dr. Maurice Goodwin, Bronx physician, in reviving 37-year-old Mrs. Betty Suterman, who apparently had succumbed to an attack of asthma.

A heart stimulant, artificial respiration and pulse inhalators, Dr. Goodwin said, brought the woman "back" in a feat which he described as happening "only once in 100 times."

The physician said when he arrived at the Suterman home some minutes after the woman collapsed—he found relatives and friends hovering her as dead.

"I examined her. There was no pulse. No heart action, and she gave every appearance of being dead."

Dr. Goodwin said he administered artificial respiration "without much hope—and in about four minutes I detected a breath."

A police emergency squad used an inhalator for three hours, continuing three tanks of oxygen. "Meanwhile, Mrs. Suterman's pulse was strong 30 days in hospital," Dr. Goodwin said. Then her breathing became stronger and firmer.

"Mrs. Suterman told me she felt she had had an attack, then fainted until, revived. It would appear, then, that death is just a good long nap."

More Money Needed For Health Doctor Says In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Jan. 19.—The Dominion government needs more money on health and protection than it does now, Dr. T. C. Bouley, Winnipeg, general practitioner, told the Canadian Medical Association, held here last night.

"We lack the money for armamentarium to protect our shores," said Dr. Bouley. "It is equally important to the health of our people. There should be a health department in Canada."

Diphtheria could be wiped out, venereal disease and tuberculosis greatly reduced in Canada if more public funds were available.

LEGISLATURE
REDUCTION IS AGAIN TALKED

Hon. Lucien Maynard Calls
Redistribution Group
For Conference
Call has been made by Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs, for a meeting of the special legislative committee on redistribution, to convene at the legislative buildings January 25.

It is expected that the committee will have to hold several meetings to draft its report, which will be final and of an interim nature.
It is possible that during the discussion on the report the house might send it back to the committee for further study and final reporting and action at the 1940 session.

Two main proposals are before the committee. One is to redistribute the province through the legislature at 60. This would involve only slight changes in the matter of boundaries.

The other proposal is to reduce the house membership to 56, which would mean the elimination of four southern constituencies, the reduction of one member each in Calgary and Edmonton and the carving out of a new constituency in the northern part of the province, to be known as Spirit River.

The resolution endorsed by the house, which set up the special committee instructed it, that no lower membership than 56 was to be considered.

Establishment of a department of labor under a responsible labor minister, the personnel of the labor movement, was one of the main submissions made by the Alberta Federation of Labor to the provincial government Tuesday afternoon. The brief was submitted to Premier Aberhart and members of the cabinet.

Pointing out that reduction of hours of labor in the province and commensurate to a 40-hour week would give employment to 3,000 additional persons in the province, the Federation delegation urged the Alberta government to take immediate action.

It was also suggested that the government should set the example to other employers by reducing the hours of labor in all public institutions and undertakings.

Vitamin A in the eyes, which helps seeing at night, also forecasts colds and dry skin. Discovery of this link is reported by L. B. Pett, University of Alberta, in "Nature," official British science journal.

LABOR URGING 40-HOUR WEEK FOR ALBERTANS

Federation points out that present rates of pay only allow for the bare necessities of life and therefore that the legislation proposed against reduction in the weekly or monthly pay cheques.

It was submitted that a program of public works should be undertaken to relieve unemployment. Such work as hard-surfacing roads, extension and improvement of highways, and re-forestation and conservation programs would absorb a great many men and more important, would assist in keeping up the morale of the workers.

The Federation sought also the passing of enabling legislation to permit provision of a national unemployment insurance act by the federal government.

INCREASE BENEFIT
Increase in benefit rates were also urged by the delegation who suggested that a greater allowance be given to provide relief for children.

HOUSING PLAN

Plans for a housing scheme in Alberta were discussed in the legislative hall presented to the government. It was pointed out that there were considerable funds available under the federal housing scheme, and that the province in Alberta, and the government was urged to take steps to make these funds available for the purpose of aiding housing and for the employment of unemployed persons. The Federation suggested that the government should take steps to ensure the availability of these funds in the province.

STANDARD OF LIVING
Maintaining a decent standard of living commensurate with present Canadian standards is what was urged. The government was urged to maintain a minimum rate of about 15 cents an hour at least $100 monthly. A special plan was outlined on basis of food and material necessities.

MODIFIERS ALLOWANCE

Changes in the present plan under the Modifiers Allowance scheme and the raising of the age limit under which children are eligible for this allowance was urged by the delegation. It was suggested that the allowance be increased to $100 monthly.

Dr. Pett has a new, quicker way of testing eyes for vitamin A.

Dr. Pett has a new, quicker way of testing eyes for vitamin A. He found persons with deficient eye vitamin A had 20 per cent more rods within a month after the tests than those with adequate vitamin.

Eighty per cent of those with low level eye vitamin had dry skin, against seven per cent among persons with enough vitamin. These figures were taken from a study of 153 persons.

Subjects tested by Dr. Pett were shown a bright light for 30 seconds and then a dim light of constant intensity. A person with a normal amount of eye vitamin takes 10 seconds to recover from the glare of the powerful light.

Treatment with vitamin A of 123 persons of the at first required 15 seconds to recover from the glare light, brought their recovery time in normal in all but three instances. However, treatment with an excess of the vitamin did not necessarily bring better than normal recovery.

These subjects who were given a treatment with vitamin A eventually required only 10 to 20 seconds to regain normal vision.
